Specialized Collections are Our Specialty

The Stack's Bowers Galleries brand was not just built on the sale of single-owner sales full of marquee rarities — Garrett, Norweb, Eliasberg, Pogue — but on thoughtfully formed cabinets of like objects that created an opportunity to creatively introduce a specialty to a wider audience upon their dispersal. We earn the trust of advanced collectors because we approach their cabinets like collectors do: by adding value to both rare and obscure with unparalleled research, and by offering groups of like items that approach a collection like a collector, not like a liquidator. There is no substitute for that kind of understanding, both for producing a catalog that showcases a collection's breadth and depth, and for respecting the material enough to let each object's best characteristics shine through.
